

A variety of voices is the key to a democracy. I encourage you to restrict, not encourage cross ownership of media outlets.

Ben Bagdikian suggests there is less than 10 companies that control the bulk of the media/art in America. There should be 1,000's. I encourage you to support any move that gives voices to those not only in big business, but those outside of it.

Tom Hendricks, ed. of Musea